Gaining the edge—it's MKU!

MKU, a leading manufacturer of ballistic protection equipment and night vision devices, with over 25 years of domain experience is participating yet again at Defexpo and is taking the opportunity to display some of their latest solutions. The protection solutions on display at the MKU booth include ballistic jackets, armour inserts, helmets, advanced protection gear, platform protection solutions for aircraft, naval vessels and land vehicles. The show stoppers are the latest range of personal protection products some of which are patented in the US and comply with the most stringent and new International Standards like NIJ 0101.06.

Another highlight is the display of MKU's new range of Night Vision Devices manufactured by MKU GmbH showcasing the Jaguar 7 Binocular, Jaguar 14 Monocular and Night Eye weapon sight. A dedicated NVD experience dark zone is an integral part of the display. At the show, visitors can get hands-on experience of the performance of a night vision device. The latest range of night vision devices offer larger field of view, long range illuminators and high quality optics.
